TREVOR BRAUNER

Morgan Waterson was born on September 19th, 1983, born from Judy and Mason Waterson. Morgan was said to live a normal life and grew up well. He had interests in normal things kids at the time were into. Dinosaurs, trucks, superheroes, whatever.

But there were two things that Morgan was more obsessed with than anything. Serial killers and black cats. He was addicted to the stories and court cases of famous killers. During a case, he would sit right in front of the TV and watch it.

Every Halloween he dressed up in a cat mask and held a knife in his hand and acted like a killer.

Some kids in the neighborhood even got scared of him sometimes.

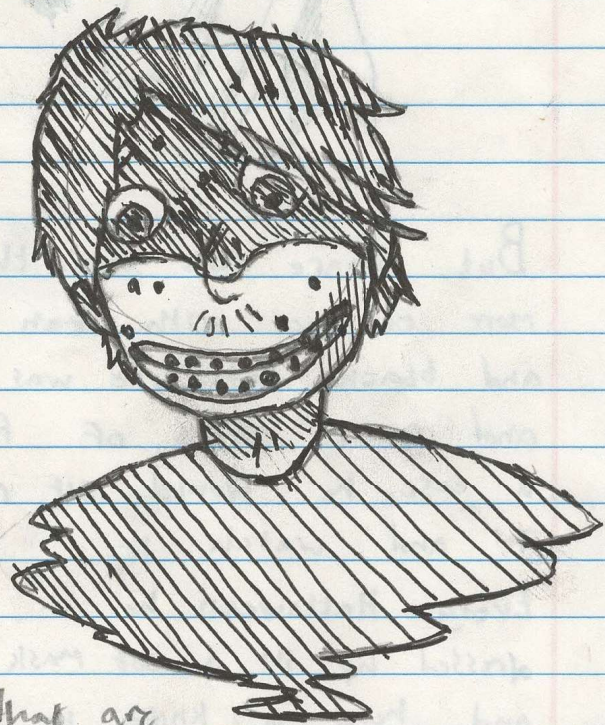

But one night, Morgan finally had something snap in his brain.

October 31st, 1999

Morgan was walking back home on the empty streets of Oaknox with many bad thoughts in his head. No one ever thought Morgan had the ideas that he thought. His parents were already asleep when he got home. He slowly walked into his parents room, then stood over them for a few minutes.

Morgan quietly paced the room for a bit, thinking about his decision.

After some time, he walked back over the bed, and smiled.

DISPATCH CALL

911: "911, what is the emergency?"

???: "They're both dead! stabbed to bits!"

911: "Ma'am, calm down, what are the details?"

???: "I'm a neighbor of these people, the Watsons. 2 parents and a child. I got suspicious on why nobody left for work. I came in through an open door to find the parents stabbed!"

911: "You said they had a kid?"

???: "Yes, Morgan Watson. But I can't find him anywhere..."
